Bethel Christian Academy's Principal's Perspective

Since there is no school tomorrow, I wanted to make sure I got the newsletter out today! I hope you enjoy your long weekend while our staff is training on several things as we always seek to get even better! See you Monday!

Working to be better is something that we should all strive for. The Bible tells us that even Jesus needed to grow in wisdom (Luke 2:52). Now, as God, I am sure he didn't need to grow in the same way we do, but as you read about his life as a young man, he was sitting around and listening to people teach in the temple. He had the desire (and the need) to learn and grow so that he could live out the purpose God had for him on Earth. It's the same with us! As we grow and mature, we get better at things and we gain more knowledge, right? It's just the way life works. But when we are purposeful in our search for knowledge, it is obvious compared to someone who is not. That works in learning, in sports, in your job, or anything that we decide to do. When we put the work in, we get the results we desire!

I never want to stop getting better at the things God has called me to do! I don't ever want to stop learning about him and applying things to my life so that when I stand before him someday I can hear "well done my good and faithful servant!" I want to continue to work to be the best I can be, whether that is the best husband, father, friend, pastor, principal, or person. I may never be perfect, but I want to work hard to be better today that I was yesterday, and better tomorrow than I was today! With God's help, I will continue to improve myself each day if I remain committed to it. You can, too, because God loves you and has a plan for your life and will help you to become the person he needs you to be to achieve it! Praise God for that! .

Thanks and God Bless!
